Okay I get what he's saying here about the anticipation being better than the realization (quite well done). Kindle We otherside Really liked the depiction of a super-store that appears to be benign (helpful even) but then once it has overtaken your life it turns out to be The Corporation and not exactly the happy ending you thought it would be. Weather seattle Which is too bad because there was some nice imagery of the snow sculptures changing from human form to animal form to intricate scenes to fanciful creatures to finally ephemeral things. EBook We otherside lyrics hey this one's a little better :-)) Liked the "mystery" of what girls do when boys aren't around (act like boys) and the tension of the first stirrings of adolescent feelings of love/like/sexual awakening. Kindle We othership History of a Disturbance: The pace on this one was a bit better but how can the narrator tell his story if he's given up on words? Wizard of West Orange: Totally skimmed this one so didn't even get a true sense of what happened. Book we the people Steven Millhauser's fiction has consistently and to dazzling effect dissolved the boundaries between reality and fantasy waking life and dreams the past and the future darkness and light love and lust. Weathers group The stories gathered here unfurl in settings as disparate as nineteenth-century Vienna a contemporary Connecticut town the corridors of a monstrous museum and Thomas Edison's laboratory and they are inhabited by a wide-ranging cast of characters including a knife thrower and teenage boys ghosts and a cartoon cat and mouse. Book weather From the earliest to the stunning previously unpublished novella-length title story—in which a man who is dead but not quite gone reaches out to two lonely women—Millhauser in this magnificent collection carves out ever more deeply his wondrous place in the American literary canon.

Πάνω από όλα θέλει να αφηγηθεί. 0307595900 I'm not sure how I missed Millhauser. So this rating says more about me than the work. Taken as a whole these stories are hard to get through. I found that really hard in this collection. And this is a particularly extensive compilation. So far so good. I think I'm going to like Millhauser. Getting Closer: And tension. So-so. People of the Book: Too simplistic for my tastes. A Protest Against the Sun: Blah. Not sure what this is a study of. mother/father/daughter dynamics? If so then I wasn't interested. Snowmen: Another blah one. Barnum Museum: An okay story. Not a great story but better than most in this book." Same tone. Same theme. Same story. I just got so tired and gave up. Millhauser is mine.
